Pre-Arrest Diversion Resources

The Pre-Arrest Diversion Learning Collaborative focused on programs that occur in Intercepts 0-1 of the Sequential Intercept Model. From September 2023 to June 2024, participants received direct support and resources, including guidance on implementing different diversion models, readiness and implementation assessments, screening tools, and funding opportunities.

Throughout the collaborative, the Behavioral Health and Justice Technical Assistance Center shared additional resources with participants that support local planning efforts, such as:

- 911 dispatch processing protocols.
- Crisis call diversion resources.
- Resources on Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act and behavioral health.
- Planning for diversion worksheets.

More information about these resources can be found here.

Autumn Technical Assistance and Funding Opportunities

Applications are open for the "Bureau of Justice Assistance Reaching Rural: Advancing Collaborative Solutions" initiative. This opportunity allows cross-sector community groups to build deeper networks and reimagine how systems with different missions can collaborate to more effectively serve justice-involved adults with substance use or co-occurring disorders. Following a 12-month planning period, Reaching Rural fellows have the opportunity to apply for an implementation grant of up to $100,000 over 15 months to launch a project planned during the Reaching Rural fellowship.
